

New SIG on High Performance Computing

ACM has officially launched SIGHPC, a new Special Interest Group on High Performance Computing. SIGHPC is the first international organization devoted exclusively to HPC.

WHY YOU SHOULD JOIN: Though this is just getting started, the website provides valuable resources for anyone involved in HPC. Members will receive:

- Member rates at key HPC events (including the SC Conference series)
- HPC newsletter
- Access to research reports, conference proceedings, HPC theses, and
- educational resources
- Virtual access to a whole community of new colleagues

IT'S EASY TO JOIN: Membership is $25/year and does not require joining ACM. SIGHPC welcomes everyone, including members of other professional organizations such as IEEE Computer Society, SIAM, AGU, etc.

Join before November 18 to take advantage of the special "celebration" rate of just $20. Go to <http://sighpc.org> for details.
